

MARINES LANDED

In Cuba to Protect the American Interests

HAVANA, Sept. 14.—There were one hundred and twenty sailors from the United States protected cruiser Denver, camped for a time last night in front of old La Fuerza castle, facing the Plaza de Armas, the little park in front of the presidential palace which is the seat of the Cuban government. The American flag was planted just inside the low stone wall separating the castle grounds from O'Reilly street, which thoroughfare passes between the camp and the Plaza de Armas. The American sailors were armed with regulation rifles with the exception of a few who carried revolvers or carbines. Two field howitzers and two rapid fire guns were set ashore.

The Denver, which originally anchored further up the bay dropped down last evening to a position abreast of the foot of O'Reilly street and in front of the offices of the captain of the port so as to be conveniently near the detachment sent ashore and close at hand in case of need.

The whole business was done so quietly and quickly that it caused the greatest surprise. The reason for the sudden landing of the American sailors was a conference between President Palma, charge d'affaires Sleper and Commander Colwell yesterday afternoon. On the occasion of the latter's formal call upon President Palma Mr. Sleper asked the president the direct question whether he considered that the government was able to pro-

FINE HOME FOR SALE

On Centralville Heights

At a Great Bargain

The undersigned, being about to move to his new residence in Belvidere, offers his present home at 119 Fremont street, for sale. The premises consist of a large two and one-half story house with a fine stable on a nicely graded and stone curbed double lot of land containing 11,000 square feet. The house is in first-class condition throughout. It has twelve good rooms besides an attic room, pantry and modern bath room. The plumbing is modern and first class in every particular. The steam heating plant consists of a fine steel boiler, set in brick with ten radiators, piped in the best possible manner. Cellar bottom cemented and sub-drained. Walks and driveway concreted and lot front curbed with granite.

The stable is one of the finest on the hill. The carriage house is concreted and drained into the street sewer. There are three stalls (one a box stall) fine harness room and a finished room for a hostler, together with all the facilities necessary for a high grade stable. The location is slightly, airy and healthy and the street cars are within one minute's walk of the house. There are several nice fruit and shade trees and an excellent lawn.

To build such a home today with the prevailing price of labor and material would cost nearly double the sum for which I am willing to sell. Further particulars will be cheerfully given to anyone desirous of buying such a residence.

TWO KILLED ENRAGED WIDOWER THEY WANT CASH

Brick Plant Destroyed by Thunderbolt

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Five men were injured, two fatally, six horses were killed and the entire plant of the Illinois Brick Co. practically destroyed last night when a thunder bolt crashed into two of the largest buildings of the South Evanston plant.

Sixty men were about the premises and not one escaped without injury. Many were pinned beneath the rafters of the building as it collapsed. Others were rendered unconscious when the stable was struck and three were injured when an attempt was made to stop the progress of the flames which were devouring the wreckage.

The shower was one of the most severe experienced in Chicago for years. The electric cars of the Chicago & Evanston line were put out of business for several hours. Telephone communication along the north shore was interfered with on account of the fact that the time-balls of the firm were in the wrecked buildings and it was impossible to obtain a full list of the injured.

The fatally injured are: Charles Baum and Fred Losen.

SEVERE STORM GERMANY ACTS

Caused Great Damage in Newport

May Intervene in the Warsaw Trouble

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 13.—A severe electrical storm passed over this city today and caused considerable damage to property, lightning striking in several places and starting destructive fires. The heavy torrent of rain which accompanied the disturbance made a bad washout on the tracks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, twice this city and Middletown, delaying all trains from one to two hours. The local and long distance telephone service was much helped for several hours.

The most serious damage caused by the lightning was the burning of the large stable on the summer estate of Theodore M. Davis on Ocean Avenue, causing a loss of $25,000, covered by insurance. Stable hands saved the horses and carriages. The barn on the farm of Benjamin Almy in Portsmouth was also destroyed by fire caused by the lightning and several other places were struck but not extensively damaged.

The summer villa and stable of F. R. Rice of Boston, located at Jamestown, were struck and considerably damaged by a bolt. Mrs. Rice received a shock which made her unconscious but she suffered no serious effects from her experience. The coachman who was sleeping in the stable was also dazed but not seriously hurt.

BRIDGE BURNED

MORE TROOPS WERE BROUGHT INTO HAVANA.

HAVANA, Sept. 13.—The insurgents today set fire to the long bridge of the western railroad at Cabahazar, near Sagua La Grande, but it was not sufficiently burned to prevent the passage of supplies. The rebels are using locomotives to pull down water tanks, etc., along the line. Insurgents are swarming in and about the town of Santiago De Las Vegas, 13 miles south of Havana, and a conflict in that city is imminent.

Four hundred additional troops were brought into Havana this morning from Guineo for the protection of the city and to assist in attacks upon the rebels in outlying towns.

There has been no telegraphic communication today along the line of the western railway or over the government lines to Pinar Del Rio.

GEORGE FULLER

WILL NOT ACCEPT NOMINATION FOR STATE TREASURER.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 13.—George A. Fuller, master of the state grange, who was nominated on the Hearst ticket for state treasurer, said today: "The nomination for state treasurer on the Hearst ticket was made without my knowledge and consent. I still adhere to my former position of not accepting any nomination from any party while connected in an official way with the state grange. Personally I want to see a conservative man nominated by the democratic party. It seems to me that my fellow countryman, John N. Carlisle, is well qualified for such an honor. He is my first choice."

COL. SOHIER

TO LOOK AFTER FRISCO RELIEF FUND.

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—Col. William D. Sohier of the Massachusetts committee for the relief of San Francisco was designated today to go to the Pacific coast with a view to advising the committee on the disposing of the relief funds on their hands. He is to be assisted by Jacob K. Firth of San Francisco. The fund now in the hands of the committee amounts to $32,650.

Officers today searched for two Sanford men who were suspected of being members of the party of four highwaymen who, with revolvers, held up the railroad men, securely bound them with wire and secured the previous day's receipts from an unlocked safe.

It is understood that one of the suspects, being dissatisfied, because the money was not evenly divided, told of the robbery and the information reached the officers.

THE PRESIDENT IS INTERESTED IN INDUSTRIAL TRAINING.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—President Roosevelt's secretary in a letter to the secretary of the board of education of the District of Columbia, approving a report of J. B. Reynolds, who at the president's direction investigated the needs of the district schools, said:

"The president is especially interested in that part in which Mr. Reynolds speaks of the need of industrial training. The president cordially agrees with Mr. Reynolds' statement that children who pursue exclusively literary and semi-literary studies are little inclined to manual labor and are not equipped for it, and yet most of these children are forced to this labor, which in consequence undertake unwillingly without possessing either pride or skill in their work."

PRIMARY LAW

FAVORED BY THE DEMOCRATS OF COLORADO.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 13.—The democratic state convention at last night's session, made the temporary organization permanent and adjourned until today after adopting the report of the resolutions committee. The platform favors a direct primary law and the election of senators by direct vote; advocates a concurrent by the president of the common utilities of daily life; favors the creation of a commission to control the railroad, telegraph and telephone companies and endorses William J. Bryan for the presidency in 1908.

Murdered the Mother of His Wife

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The high crime of chivalry led to another yesterday on the East Side. One of the houses that stand on what was once the old Belmont farm at 257 Seventh street, once upon a time, was the home of Myndert Van Schelde, but that was many years ago. Nowdays it houses a half dozen families.

On the fourth floor lived before yesterday Geetel Cohen, with her daughter, Blanche, and her widower son-in-law, Harry Diamond. Today Blanche, the only member of the family at home and alive, Geetel lies in a darkened room, bedecked in white with a lace veil over her head, a bride again, as is the orthodox Yiddish custom in preparing the dead women for burial. In her breast is a revolver wound. Harry Diamond is in Hebrew hospital, a prisoner, with a like wound in his body, from which it is expected that he will die.

"Oh, woe," wailed the old woman, "that this should come on me in my old age. It is not my fault."

"Give me thy other daughter," said Diamond.

"I have no other," said Diamond.

FIVE DROWNED

Children Were in a Boat That Upset

WHITEHEAD, N. S., Sept. 14.—A terrible drowning accident occurred at Port Felix, N. S., yesterday by which five young people lost their lives. The dead are: John Fougere, aged 11; Maggie Fougere, aged 9; Maggie King, aged 10; Clara King, aged 11; Martin King, aged 12; Savard, Minnie Fougere, aged 15.

The children left their homes yesterday morning to pick blueberries and about six miles back of Port Felix they attempted to cross the lake in an old leaky flatboat kept for the use of berry pickers. They succeeded in reaching a small island in the centre of the lake by going two at a time in the boat, but on returning the six got in and when about two thirds of the way across the boat filled and turned bottom up.

ANOTHER FIGHT

Nelson Posts $10,000 to Meet Gans

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Battling Nelson returned yesterday, showing few marks of his encounter with Joe Gans. He immediately posted a certified check for $10,000 for another match with Gans, this amount to go as a side bet. In the event of no club making a satisfactory offer, Nelson agrees to fight Gans in private for $10,000 a side.

The Battler says he did not intentionally foul Gans, but that Gans purposely threw himself in the way of a fair blow and then dropped to the floor. "Old Silo" was there to call a foul," says Nelson.

"Was I fibbed?" Well, just as certain as that I am standing here," Nelson goes further and says the deal was framed up in San Francisco by the sports who have never forgiven Nelson for whipping Britt and taking away a lot of the fun.

The Battler took much satisfaction out of the fact that Goldfield has rejected the Britt-Gans fight and offers $30,000 for a return match between Britt and Gans.

"This shows that the miners still believe in me and my fighting ability," said he. "Given a fair deal, when the ring is not dark and the referee unable to see plainly, I will show Gans who is the better man."

FOR PURSE OF $20,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Philadelphia Jack O'Brien did not sell for Australia yesterday afternoon, having accepted an offer from the Arcadia club at Los Angeles to fight Tommy Burns for a purse of $20,000. O'Brien had abandoned hope of getting Berger pinned down to a match, and had decided to sail, when the Arcadia offer changed his plans. No date has been set for the fight.

DECISION FOR SIDNEY.

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—In a whirlwind fight at the Arcadia last night, Fred Sidney was given the decision over Kid Pantz. Sidney did practically all the leading, but it was not until the ninth round that he had any advantage. In that round Pantz went down twice, but rallied brilliantly.

The 10th round was fast fighting from start to finish. Pantz was again gorgy, but Sidney lacked the power to put him out of commission.

The remaining five rounds were a bit slower. Sidney missing several apparently good opportunities to finish his man.

Referee Stuart's decision in favor of Sidney was warmly applauded.

The attendance was about 600.

STRUCK BY AUTO

YOUNG MAN NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE.

WHITINSVILLE, Mass., Sept. 14.—An automobile in charge of J. M. Thornton of Pawtucket, R. I., struck Dolphus Lambert, Jr., the 10-year-old son of Dolphus Lambert at Rockdale, Northbridge, last night, and injured him so seriously that he may die. Young Lambert was playing on the highway at the time. His skull is fractured and he is otherwise hurt.

WAS BURNED

THE MOTOR BOAT MERCEDES TOOK FIRE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—An explosion on the motor boat Mercedes, one of the entrants in the race of the motor boat club of America, which took place on the Hudson river, threw its three occupants, H. L. Howden, the owner of Boston, Capt. Jas. Barr and Charles Barker, the engineer, into the river. They were rescued with serious injury. The boat took fire and burned to the water's edge.

Josiah Quincy will not stand for Moran's attempt to capture the democratic nomination and in that he shows his consistency. It is only a move to make the democratic party ridiculous.

It will be to the lasting disgrace of the democratic party if it cannot find a candidate for governor strong enough to avert the sureness to the nomination of the prohibition party. Imagine a three per cent. party tying up in a knot one of the two great parties of the state?

Republican extravagance is perhaps best shown by the fact that while our population increases less than 2 per cent. a year, yet the appropriations increased for the present fiscal year 7.6 per cent more than they were for the year previous. Every year shows a much greater increase than the per cent of increase of the population.

MAKE IT A BAND CONCERT, GENTLEMEN.

There is very keen regret among democrats and we dare say republicans also, over the decision to call off the joint debate between Ames and Durbin. It was looked forward to by democrats with anticipations of great enjoyment as it promised to be a unique affair. A great many people are disappointed as the attendance was expected to reach from 20,000 to 30,000. That being the case it would seem that the candidates could do better than send a band up to the South common tonight to allay the disappointment of those who will go there to hear the debate, for there will be hundreds from other parts of the district who have not heard that the event is declared off through the intervention of Secretary Goward.

NEW OPPORTUNITIES FOR CORRUPTION.

Before Mr. Bryan can successfully launch his plan of government ownership of railroads, he will have to establish official honesty in every government department. At present he seems to think that there is but one dishonest man in the country apart from the trust magnates and the plutocrats but if he were elected president he would soon have a rude awakening to the fact that there is more political dishonesty in this country to a square inch than there is in any other country to a square yard. Government ownership of railroads under present conditions would mean little more than opening up new opportunities for robbing the government and frustrating the will of the people.

THE WORST LIBERTINES.

That Pittsburg pastor who deserted his wife and family to elope with a young girl, a member of his church, must be a disciple of the free love cult when he makes the astute declaration: "Miss Myckum is my wife; in the sight of God I swear it."

There is no libertine so unmitigately criminal as the one who uses his position as leader of a religious organization to debauch and scandalize its members. This man seems to be as dead to his moral obligations and as much of a hypocrite as the man Foster who when charged with bigamy and neglect of his first wife and family for fourteen years claimed that an injury to his head caused him to forget all about them and to forget that he was ever married before. Such men should be punished to the extreme limit of the law for their perfidy.

THE FLOATING CASTLES.

Tremendous quantities of coal will be required to run the turbines of Linstrum's engines. The ship's indicated horse power is 65,000 which will mean a consumption of not less than 35 tons of steam each hour and a corresponding consumption of 50 tons of coal in the same time. This would work out a total of 1200 tons of coal a day. - Exchange.

Assuming that the vessel is seven days at sea the smallest cargo of coal with which she can venture out would be about 3000 tons. And the coal is but a small part of a big steamer's cargo, but what an idea it gives of the vast power and size of such vessels. Yet they are sometimes 75% "about by the waves like mere cat-heads!"

MORAN'S CANDIDACY ASSAILED.

The Worcester Post is talking right out in open meeting, so to speak, on John B. Moran's case. Here is a sample of the Post's hot shot on Moran's candidacy for the democratic nomination:

"The candidacy of John B. Moran for the democratic nomination for governor is the most ludicrous of the many ludicrous things that have taken place in democratic politics in a generation."

"It used to be a favorite saying with the late John E. Russell in his campaign speeches in Worcester that every political tramp assumed the right to walk into the democratic drawing room, sit at the head of the table and wipe his muddy shoes upon the democratic parlor carpet without saying as much as 'By your leave, gentlemen to the men who had stood loyal to the party through storm and sunshine.'

"Mr. Moran's candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor must be based upon some such assumption."

"We have never known Mr. Moran to be anything other than a free lance in politics. While we have not the honor of a personal acquaintance with him our reading of the newspaper reports of his political career has led us to believe that he has in his make-up some of the conspicuous characteristics of a political disturber. He has unspuriously attacked democratic candidates when he took no notice. Party loyalty has had for him no restraint. He was a democrat when it suited his purposes and something else when the whim seized him."

"Last year Mr. Moran ran against the democratic nominee for district attorney of Suffolk county and won at the polls to the astonishment of most of his supporters."

"With the prestige of independent victory and the badge of democratic disloyalty upon his brow, Mr. Moran this year received the prohibition nomination for governor. He accepted it and then served notice immediately upon the democrats that they, too, would have to nominate him, or like Samson of old, he would 'pull down the pillars of their idol hall.' He has told the public in unmistakable language that whether the democratic party nominates him or not, he will be the candidate of the prohibition party at the polls."

"The effort of the prohibition candidate for governor to secure the democratic nomination also is the queerest combination that has ever been proposed in Massachusetts politics."

"Of course it is easy to see what will come of Moran's candidacy in case he should be nominated when a democratic paper treats it in this manner. To say more would be simply to make republican assurance doubly sure."

SEEN AND HEARD

Princess Clementine, mother of the Prince of Bulgaria, and one day to her elder brother, the Duke De Jonville: "Bring me on your next trip to the south seas the complete costume of a king's wife." "I will gladly," the duke answered. He returned from the south seas a year later and handed to his sister a string of pearl beads. "These are very pretty," said the princess, "but you promised me a complete costume." "This is a complete costume, said the duke. "I have never seen them wear any other."

A gentleman returning from a holiday in India was bringing home, among other souvenirs, a pair of laughing jackas.

The care of them was given to the gentleman's servant, Bill. The voyage did not agree with these birds and in spite of Bill's care they pined away and died.

Bill told a friend of his trouble, and advised him to break the news gently to his master.

Bill found his master, and said: "Sir, you know them things called laughing jackas?" Well, they didn't get nothing more to last at."

As I was on my holiday I saw this mother in an hotel, opened by a foreigner who had just "inherited" the English language.

"Gentlemen who come in this hotel not say anything about their meals will be charged for, and if they should say anything beforehand that they are going out to breakfast or dinner, and if they say that they have not anything to eat that they will be charged for, and if no, they will be charged, and unless they bring it to the notice of the manager, and so on, they want not to pay anything, they must order the manager for food and anyone else, and unless they not bring it to the notice of the manager they will be charged for the best dishes not according to board rates, and no fare will be allowed afterwards about it, and nothing will be done to deduct anything out of it."

An Englishman who was spending a holiday in Aberdeen, the "Granite City," tells the following story:

"I had heard," he said, "of the canny folk of Aberdeen, and my experience, though it was proved that rumour had rightly estimated the character of the people. The streets are granite, the houses are granite, and the inhabitants are granite; and when they have a granite baby they give it a half of granite for fear it should break any other toy."

"I had a granite landlady, and one day when I was going fishing her son volunteered to accompany me. I provided the lunch, the rods, and the lines; he provided the worms, dug them up in a neighbor's garden with a borrowed spade. I caught sixteen trout; he ate the lunch and broke my best rod. When we got home I made a present of fourteen of the fish to my granite landlady, and asked her to cook the other two for my tea. She did, and charged me three-pence for the dripping in which they were fried."

BEFORE AND AFTER.

Plain girl, in kitchen, Real good cook! Man passed by, Didn't even look. Girl in the ball-room, Hair all a-rouse, Man falls in love—such a pretty girl. Five years later, Dressed gone! Wishes he had taken The plainer one.

—Jessie Markey.

It is wonderful how slight a thing will save a drowning man's life. An our own overboard will buoy him up—a thinning scarcely thicker than a knitting needle will draw him safely to the shore. Franklin, when a boy, used to bathe on the surface of the water, sustained by the pull of his flying kite, and men have ridden out storms on the great sea on horseback and in gaily-attired galleys of mighty ships that had broken up under their feet. It is the same in the troubled waters of life's ocean. A very little help has often re-creed a stricken brother who must otherwise have gone down, to rise no more, and thousands do go down, while those who might safely lend them a helping hand look on indifferently. To lend a helping hand to any man who throws up his own hands and manifests no disposition to save himself from sinking is useless; but the "man overboard" on the voyage of life who butts the billows of fate valiantly has a righteous claim to the sympathy and support of his more fortunate brethren.

An old man recently went to London for his holidays. He had been to several of the noted places, so the fourth day he decided to go to Hyde Park. He had walked round the park, and, feeling rather tired and sleepy he eventually sat down on a chair in the shade of the trees.

He had not been there long, when a man came up to him and asked him for a penny for the use of the chair. He paid him the penny, and then went to sleep on the chair. His hat dropped off on to his knee, and people who were passing by, thinking him to be a blind man, put copper coins into his hat, and eventually when he awoke he had 13d in copper coins in his hat, so he made his expenses.

Abraham Lincoln said: "Die when I may, I want it said of me by those who know me best that I always packed a thistle and planted a flower where I thought a flower would grow."

TWO GOOD-NIGHTS.

THIS CITY CHILD'S GOOD-NIGHT. Good-night, dear, noisy, happy street! The ringing bells and hurried feet. When I am safely tucked in bed, And all the daytime thoughts are dead; Are just like music to my ears, And drive away the night-time fears.

Good-night, dear street, Your lights so bright! Shine in my window all the night, And company there are to me.

But oh, how lonely it must be Beyond the city and the park! When everything is still and dark.

THE COUNTRY CHILD'S GOOD-NIGHT. Good-night, dear hills! So still you lie, Against the bosom of the sky, I know you must be fast asleep, And all night long the stars will keep Their tender watch over you, So must I soon be sleeping too.

Good-night, dear hills for now I go To slumber, trustfully and slow; But bedtime must be cheerful, gay, To those who can't look out and say (My heart with pitying it lists) One good-night to the friendly hills.

—Eleonor C. Hall, in "Woman's Home Companion" for September.

A newly married couple went for a week's holiday to Llandudno. The bride, in telegraphing to her father, announced that they were "having a lovely time in a row every morning before breakfast."

Her father, evidently reminiscent of his own experience, wired back, "How do you pronounce 'it-o-w'?"

EDITORIAL COMMENT

MICKEY'S MISTAKE

Lynn, Mass.—Governor Mickey is a ready reader, and an ardent lover of books, but the crowd at Lincoln, Mass., assembled to greet Bryan did not care to hear the president mentioned in the presence of their idol and the words of the governor were coldly received, and it was advised, "Cut it out." The lame governor of Nebraska should have refused to be a part of the Bryan show as he has given it his cordial countenance. The first would have been the better course.

G. C. WILLIAMS ON BRYAN

Johnstown Democrat: George Fred Williams of Boston, the acknowledged Bryan man in Massachusetts, in a private letter to the editor of The Democrat, expresses his unqualified approval of Mr. Bryan's stand in favor of public ownership of the iron highways. "I know you will join me," he says, "in the satisfaction I feel at Mr. Bryan's bold declaration on the public ownership of the roads of the trust problem and that we may look forward to a campaign which will have in its elements of compactness and hypocrisy. State regulation has been well tried for a quarter of a century in the states and it has merely resulted in leading up the state governments with railroad influence until hardly a single state can be found which is not under the domination of the railroads and the lesser line in the public utility household. I think the best purge we could give our politics is the public ownership program and this is a question which is good enough for any man to devote himself to for the rest of his life."

IN SCHOOLS

WOMEN FEAR THAT CHILDREN ARE BEING KILLED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14. Mrs. Josephine Lawler has been bearing the white woman's burden as principal of Public School No. 17 and its annex, No. 18, in Corona Heights, near Flushing, for the last three years. She is almost the whole of American Civilization in that outpost of Manhattan's great East Side, not only bringing up her thousand odd youngsters to keep their faces clean and never tell a lie, but also through her monthly meetings seeing that as few babies as possible die every year from cold and their mothers' ignorance.

The Italian women like her, whenever she can stop them and call her "the little mother," and humbly obey whatever she commands. The Jewish children and their mothers are still distrustful because they have not been there long enough to get acquainted.

A small edition of the panic which sent 50,000 school children screaming on to the streets in Manhattan last June broke out in the two public schools in Corona Heights yesterday, and 500 mothers and fathers of all nationalities hung round the schools all morning to make sure that, as Mrs. Lawler said, their children were not having their throats cut by the American doctor.

"The Italians were first on the scene and completely devoted to her, and it was only during the past summer that the Russian Jews came in. Whole bunches of tenement people sprung up over night next the Italian bandit in Corona Heights and hundreds of Russian Jewish families that knew not Mrs. Lawler moved in all through the month of August.

On Monday the Jewish mothers who had acquaintances among the Italian mothers began to tell them of the awful time back in New York in June, when the Christian doctors came to the schools to cut all the Jewish children's throats and how they had saved them only by going to the schools in crowds and threatening to tear them down if the children's lives weren't spared. This started suspicion fermenting in the Italian's minds.

When Wednesday came and the children got to school to find a young woman in a white apron there the clamor started. One boy ran out and said that a nurse with a bright knife was there

TO "PULL" JOB

Police Captain Said to Have Schemed

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 14.—An interesting story of police malice was told yesterday at a hearing of charges preferred by Chief of Police Levins against Inspector Patrick J. Leahy, who is accused of conniving at excesses in his district while a police captain.

Patrick P. Mahoney, a former patrolman under Leahy, testified that Leahy, then a police captain, called him into a private room in the police station, declared that he was about to take the examination for promotion to police inspector, and that it would aid him in securing promotion if he could do a good job on police work before the examination was held. Leahy then said, according to the witness.

"There is a Dutchman over here on Wentworth avenue near Fifth street, who owns a jewelry store, with $500 to $600 worth of stuff in the safe. Now you know some handy fellows who could touch the place off. It will be worth $500 to me to have the job pulled off and then turn back the stuff as though it had been taken."

Mahoney said that he agreed to the promotion and made arrangements with James Clark and Thomas Harry to rob the place. Several boxes of jewelry, according to the witness, were carried from the place and some money was secured, which was divided between the men and himself. The jewelry was concealed in the basement of his own house, Mahoney declared.

Bernard J. Dugan, the jeweler, who presented Mahoney on the stand, said that his place had been robbed as Mahoney afterward described, and said that of the jewelry taken some of it, valued at $400 had never been returned to him.

PAID DUTY

JUDGE GARY HANDED OVER A NEAT SUM.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—When former Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, made his declaration to the United States customs officials yesterday, after the Deutschland, of the Hamburg-American line, had reached quarantine, thus deputy collector in charge of the ship nearly over from astonishment.

"Wait a minute," said Mr. Gary, after he had declared several thousand dollars worth of wearing apparel and other articles for Miss Gary and himself. He put his hand in his trouser pocket and drew out a large pearl. "I wish to declare these."

"Any value?" asked the customs official.

"I paid $2,000 for them in Paris," said Mr. Gary modestly. Later, when the ship docked, Mr. Gary paid to the collector's representatives on the pier $3,000 duty in cash, the rate on unperfumed pearls being 10 per cent. Besides this sum, Mr. Gary paid $2,000 duty on other articles declared.

News of Mr. Gary's act spread among the arriving passengers and caused a sensation.

FELL THIRTY FEET

CHILD HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Eugene Paquette, the three and one-half year old child of Peter Paquette of 123 Fletcher street, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday afternoon. He fell from a third story window to the pavement.

He was picked up in an unconscious condition and a doctor summoned. An examination showed that no bones were broken and yesterday he was around the street as usual.

STUB TALMAGE AS DELORO WIGGINS IN "THE COLLEGE WIDOW."

OPERA HOUSE

Deanna Thompson's "The Old Homestead" attracted a large audience to the Opera House last evening. The playhouse was crowded to the doors and repeatedly the players were cheered. Deanna Thompson herself was absent from the cast, but William Lawrence proved himself a worthy successor in the character of Jack Whitcomb. There was no letup in the merriment last night and there was no reason why there should have been. The old company made things lively with some new ideas inserted in the play. The play was as good as ever and Ruth Phillips delighted as Isopeta. The whole company presented the piece magnificently and once more it is proven that Lowell will turn out its best performances when a good thing is expected. Not a vacant seat or vacant standing at the end of the house. Monday, Sept. 17, can you imagine the excitement a garment of color would have in a Lowell audience? To tell much of anything about the play would be needless as it is about as well known as the doves of Zion in religious choirs. As mentioned last night, even with Mr. Thompson absent, the play is as good as ever. The music of the firm chorus called for about six encores, each better than the one preceding it.

THE COLLEGE WIDOW.

"The College Widow," which will be at the opera house tonight and tomorrow matinee and night has one special feature in which the art of stage management is shown with the greatest effect. This is in the third act, when the progress of the amateur football game between Atwater and Bingham is indicated by the crowd. One end of the stand extends over the gate by which the Atwater players leave their clubhouse to go out on the gridiron. This stand holds as many people as can be handled, and in its variety of movements and emotions becomes the most important "crowd" of the stage. No other is relied upon for so much. This is the background of a striking picture devised by the artist George Mullen, general stage director for Mr. Savage. The whole act is one of confusion, hurried entrance and exits. Every other moment the crowd yells as the ball moves one way or the other. Finally when in the last scene of play Atwater, the Atwater half-back blocks through for a run the length of the field and a moment later Atwater, who has been the target of both actors and the crowd runs out with the victorious Atwater on their shoulders. The act is opened with lots of scenes, weather and everything else movable, everybody selling mad, while all of them in the stand, the crowd, and the with fun power and face. It is the supreme moment of the play and the greatest of all.

PAT CRIPPS-CRICK.

one of the most majestic and dramatic attractions ever offered to the public by Mr. Carpenter's "At Crip's Creek."

A stirring story of western life, dramatic and poetical with a certain special scenes to be offered in the new opera house. Monday, Sept. 17, can you imagine the excitement a garment of color would have in a Lowell audience? To tell much of anything about the play would be needless as it is about as well known as the doves of Zion in religious choirs. As mentioned last night, even with Mr. Thompson absent, the play is as good as ever. The music of the firm chorus called for about six encores, each better than the one preceding it.

WHAT HAPPENED IN NORDLAND.

The popular musical attraction on tour this week to the New Fields Opera Company, presenting the play New York success, "What Happened in Nordland," a musical extravaganza in two acts, with music by Victor Herbert, the talented composer who is responsible for the emphatic success of several of the best musical attractions, notably "The Red Poppy." The librettist is Glen MacDonough, author of a score of brilliant lyrical productions which have won广泛 popularity. The elaborate musical spectacle will be presented at the opera house Wednesday matinee and night, Sept. 17, under the personal stage direction of Duffi McNeil, who produced the "Red Poppy" and "The Wizard of Oz."

HATHAWAY THEATRE

It is generally conceded that Lowell residents have fastidious taste when it comes to placing their stamp of approval upon a vaudeville show, but it is a fact that this week's bill at Hathaway's has met with the approbation of all who have attended a performance. It is unquestionably one of the best bills that Manager John L. Shannon has ever offered his patrons. Stanley Donne & Co., presenting a high class singing, entitled "Christmas on Blackwell's Island," provide the headlining act. Others on the bill are Ferguson and Co., Irish comedians; Arthur and Mabel Royston & Co., presenting "Jack and Jill"; Miss Emily's dogs; Kaufman Sisters, character singers and dancers; Phoenix Singers, a real American soprano; Thomas and Payne, colored singers and dancers, and the American Vitrage. There are daily matinees at Hathaway's, and women and children will find it an ideal place to spend an afternoon. The matinee prices are 10, 20 and 50 cents, and in the evening the prevailing prices are 10, 20, 50 and 75 cents. The new orchestra installed by Manager Shannon renders pleasing selection prior to the performance.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

Put three more performances of "The Belle of Richmond" will be given at the Academy by the Severin DeDeyn stock company, and those who have not seen this beautiful southern romance are reminded that the week is near its end. Next week the attraction will be the great Madison Square success, "Capt. Swift," a powerful drama in four acts. The action is based on the experiences of Captain Swift, a great highwayman who turns out to be the disowned son of a noted peeress who while not a bad man at heart is forced by circumstances to lead the life of the criminal. As may be imagined the play abounds in strong and striking situations and is of deep heart interest, while the cast includes several important characters thus bringing out the full strength of the company prominently. It calls also for a diversity of scenery and settings. The plot while powerful is not heavy or depressing and the infusion of lighter thought into the course of the story gives the spice of variety that evenly balances the stronger features of the play. Mr. DeDeyn will appear in the leading role and all the members of the company have been assigned to congenital parts. There will be two performances of "The Belle of Richmond" tomorrow and one this evening. There is still an opportunity to get on the subscription list.

Miss Hard and Mrs. Garland, firm of Hard & Garland, milliners, and Miss Blood, will return at end of week from New York, where they have been attending the fall millinery openings.

FINAL CHAPTER

In Romance of Mlle. Leontieff

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 11.—The idea of Mlle. Leontieff, the woman who has been and Frenchman named M. de la Motte, was swindled back on Sept. 10, in time for M. Durnovo, former foreign minister of the interior, to open the final chapter of an interesting romance as Mlle. Leontieff, one of the ladies of life. The pair who were accused in an unusual criminal attempt upon the life of her husband in 1903. Mlle. Leontieff was convicted of some time ago in asylum. She was eventually released upon her promise to leave Russia forever. This she did but she maintained her connection with the royal family up to St. Petersburg and when M. Durnovo was released he offered to evict her from the servants of the "divine group" of which she was a member. Since the release of M. Durnovo has returned to Moscow and is living in a villa in the hills of the country estate.

The British Royal Free published a statement giving the penalty for refusal to return to Russia to be a year and a half and the loss of civil rights. The fall racing season has begun and reports have been received of several attempted attacks on local authorities for the purpose of destroying racing lists.

FOR FUNERALS

NEW RULES SUGGESTED BY REV.

FR. RUTLER

BOSTON, Sept. 14.—Rev. Francis J. Butler, pastor of St. Leo's church, Dorchester, has created a stir among his parishioners by criticizing in his monthly circular the way in which funerals have been conducted at that church.

After making the statement that there had been only one funeral in the past month which was conducted properly, Dr. Butler gives a list of regulations which he requests that his parishioners will use at all funerals hereafter. He requests that the back doors remain on their seats and not litter about the vestibule of the church, and that they abstain from smoking and from gossiping.

He limits the number of carriages for the funeral of an ordinary citizen to 10. He requests that if many persons are sent that the undertaker be allowed to carry only one small piece to be placed on the casket. In closing the aisle that requests for some semi-religious song to be sung at the close of the service, shall not be made.

SCHOOL SHOES.

There are some time "Are You A Man?" is coming to the attention of next Monday evening, Sept. 17. This clever comedy is one of the most popular plays now being put on. It will play to one of the largest houses of the season. The wife is who buys his seats early.

SAD TALES OF WOE

Narrated Before Board of CharityFOXBORO HOME FOR DIPSOMANIACSSeverely Criticised by Well Known Lady

The board of charities met last night in special session, the purpose of the meeting being to ascertain if the city could be reimbursed for the support of inmates of epileptic and dipsomanic hospitals in this state which are sending big bills into the city monthly. According to a decision, handed down by the attorney-general, the parents or nearest of kin of inmates must reimburse the city in whole or part if they are able to do so.

The meeting was a very pathetic one and it was hard to listen to the tales of privation and struggle related by some of the people present.

The sensation of the meeting, however, was the denunciation of the hospital for dipsomaniacs located at Foxboro. The institution has been under fire for the past three or four years, but recently active measures were taken by the state towards remedying the evils which exist there.

The board of charities was unanimous in condemning the institution, and branding it as an unfit place for the care of any person.

A woman well known here had a son about 15 years of age, at the hospital at Foxboro for about five months. He returned to his mother's home Monday and she stated that the condition of affairs at the hospital was shameful.

"My son is at home now and is looking like a shadow," she said. "I sent him down there trying to have him cured of the drinking habit, but instead of giving him the care which was needed he was put to work early in the morning and worked till late at night. He was worked like a slave in a chain gang and then all he got to eat was pea soup and beans."

There are 25 cows down there and big consignments of chickens are sent to the institution, but the routine of pea soup and beans is all the inmates get.

"I would not have let him go there if I had known anything about it," said Chairman Cummings. "But you will have to pay for his board $3.50 per week."

"Well, I will not pay," was the answer. "If you insist on my paying for his board I will have to go to the city farm myself."

After some further conversation the woman caused the members of the board to feel tickled over a compliment given, stating that her son was always treated well at the city farm and that she had always paid his way there.

Further recitals by people called before the board showed that there was a great lack of system whereby a judge in another city or town can send a man with a Lowell sentence to this

BEATEN TO DEATH

Woman Killed During Husband's Absence

MEDEA, Penn., Sept. 14.—Mrs. H. J. Pavitt, wife of a farmer, was yesterday beaten to death during the absence of her husband at her home in Market township near here, with a baton which in the hands of an amateur, would not be called "The Other Look." Later it will come into town.

Mrs. Pavitt was asked to get back to the United States. When the reporter who met the ship down the bay learned about Mrs. Harry, could not be found, asked a steward where he would have been a delight to Mr. "Philly" or Mr. Harry. It was appealed to.

"He knows you, and the dock steward, and the port you can find here. He took it for granted that he had lost his life."

He was then asked if he had been to New York, and he said, "Well, I've been there three times."

"What do you mean by saying you have been to New York?" asked the reporter.

"I mean that you will have a green thing," Mrs. Harry was asked.

"She?" She. "Who said anything about she?"

It turned out that there was no one left to meet her by the crowd of joyous ones outside. It was some time after the ship had docked that Mrs. Harry saw her little brother standing at the fence that divides the dock from those who have not customs passes.

The climbed up, kissed him over the fence and then hurried off to get permission for him to come inside where she was.

Mrs. Harry had with her a doll that was just exactly her birth. When she brought it down the gang plank she resembled a Red Cross girl aid to the injured after a naval engagement. The doll is going out to Michigan to make glad the heart of a four-year-old admirer.

Charles Cherry, who is to support Maxine Elliott, Miss Gladys Morris, Guy Thomas and Guy Cary, also of Miss Elliott's company, were others on the Teutonic.

CHURCHILL LEADS

IN NUMBER OF DELEGATES ELECTED AT NASHUA.

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 14.—Col. Winston Churchill led in the number of delegates to the state convention chosen in six wards last night, the author obtaining 19; Pillsbury 8 and Floyd 6 of the number elected. The cause developed the fierce struggle held in this city for years. William H. Greenleaf, a brother of Col. Greenleaf, the candidate, was defeated in ward 3. The Pillsbury and Churchill forces united here and elected each three Greenleaf forces, who had united to support Greenleaf adherents.

Gallagher Republicans in ward 4, under the leadership of Charles J. Mandlett, voted to support Floyd delegates opposing a union of the Pillsbury-Churchill candidates, and this was the storm center of the contest. Both sides had been canvassing the ward for the past 10 days. The Pillsbury-Churchill ticket won with the wide margin of 49 votes. The result was a surprise.

George R. French, one of the original members of the Lincoln Republican club, was elected a Churchill delegate in ward 2.

ALVA ADAMS

NAMED FOR GOVERNOR OF COLORADO.

DENVER, Sept. 14.—After three days of strenuous session the democratic state convention last night adjourned after naming a ticket as follows:

Governor, Alva Adams; Lt. Governor, Elmer N. Adams; Secretary of state, Horace W. Hartman; State treasurer, Edward E. Drach; Attorney general, Wm. H. Morgan; State adjutant, Andrew S. Berg; Superintendent of public instruction, Miss Honora Maloney.

The most momentous action of the convention was the reading out of the party of the Spear faction of Denver county, because of its alleged subversiveness to local utility corporations. The nomination of Adams was demanded in the platform, and was almost unopposed because of the general opinion among democrats that he should be vindicated in his claim that he was robbed of the governorship two years ago in the Peabody and Adams contest before the state legislature. The platform of the convention adopted yesterday endorsed Bryan and took a decided stand against corporation domination of political parties and pledged the democracy of the state to the enactment of a law making it a felony for officials of the corporations to contribute to the campaign funds.

INJUNCTION CASE

Against Legality of Public Hall Commission

Charles Cowley and City Solicitor Hill Argued Case—Matter Put Over Till October Session of Court

At the supreme judicial court in Boston today the petition of A. C. Wheeler, locked up, for an injunction restraining the recently elected Huntington Hall commissioners from proceeding with the building of a public hall and restraining the city treasurer from paying out any money for that purpose, was heard before Justice Sheldon.

Charles Cowley appeared for the petitioners and City Solicitor Hill for the respondents.

Mr. Cowley in opening the case read the petition which has been published previously in The Sun. He then presented the following brief from which he argued at length:

MR. COWLEY'S BRIEF

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT, Middlesex Co., Boston, Sept. 12, 1906.

Filed for the Petitioners.

1. This petition is based on section 100 of chapter 25 of the revised laws.

Section 24 of chapter 33 of the Act of 1853 provides that the city council of Lowell "may by joint convention of the city council and the members of the joint convention nominate a committee of three or more persons to have the power to appropriate, for the use of the city, any sum of money not exceeding $10,000 for purposes for which no law is required or authorized, to assess or grant money or property for all purposes necessary for carrying into effect the powers conferred" by said chapter, commonly called the city charter.

2. The ordinance is repugnant to the statute in that it purports, ex proprio vigore, to make the mayor for the time being a member of the committee, without other action of the city council, although the statute provides that "no election or a city officer by a number of body or board shall be valid unless made by a city vote, or by the ordinance, aspiring to be wiser than the statute, undertakes to make a mayor a commissioner without any vote at all." Well did Chief Justice Parsons say, "It is dangerous to attempt being wiser than the law."

3. All the powers of the city council are delegated powers, and it is an inherent and implied meaning of the law that delegated power cannot be delegated to others. The petitioners submit that the legislature has not authorized the city council to delegate the power to build a public hall, by section 6, chapter 145 of the Acts of 1856, or by any other act. The proviso in said section is purely negative. It contains no express grant of power, and none is implied.

4. It is not the office of a proviso to confer power, but to except something from the enacting clause," etc.

Chango v. Phoenix Ins. Co., 125 Mass. 23.

2. The ordinance, under which the commissioners were chosen, is repugnant to section 7 of chapter 25 of the Revised Laws; because it limits the members of the joint convention, in their choice of four out of the five commissioners to the nominees of the two nominators, by providing that, "in case of their failure to elect any one or more of the persons so nominated, new names shall be submitted by said committee, who, with the two nominators, will then nominate the two members of the joint convention.

3. The proposed hall is apparently "to take the place of Huntington Hall," which was originally used for other than municipal purposes—for concerts, for theatrical exhibitions, for balls, for dances, for roller rink, for basketball, and other purposes of mere amusement. In comparison with our hall, owned by private individuals, firms, and corporations, at a cost to the taxpayers of $40,000 a year, and under the decision of the supreme court of the United States, it is the duty of the general court and of this court, to see that the power of the city to raise money, by taxation, is not used for private interests, but only for public purposes.

4. Commonwealth v. Toplak, 20 Wash. 155.

5. In 185 Mass. 23, all the justices of half court held that none of the purposes for which cities and towns have been authorized to raise money, has included anything in the nature of what is called trade or commercial business.

5. Prior to the statute of 1856, chapter 230, no city or town in this state could engage in the manufacture or sale of gas or electric light.

6. "It would be a perversion of the function of government for the state or city to enter as a competitor into the field of industrial enterprise.

Opinion of the justices 182 Mass. 607.

A city has no power, and the legislature cannot give it power, to appropriate money for the erection of a municipal hall, a portion of which is to be for the use of a post of the G. A. R.

Kirchner v. Brooklyn, 152 Mass. 595. The fact that the former hall was used for purposes of mere amusement at the expense of the taxpayers, furnishes no justification for the attempt now made to build another hall for such purposes. An unlawful expenditure of city funds, if rendered valid by usage.

Hoob v. Lyons, 1 Allen 406.

7. The ordinance assumes, but the petitioners deny, that the duty of building the proposed hall would devolve upon the superintendent of public buildings, but for some act of the city council, making other provision thereto, under section 6 of chapter 145 of the acts of 1856. But, of course, if the purposes of the proposed hall are not such as the law authorizes, it would be no part of the duty of that officer to build it, and even if the power to build and maintain a hall for purposes of mere amusement were among the granted powers, the erection of such a structure would be beyond the scope of the superintendent's duties. By section 24 of chapter 143 of the acts of 1856, the city council is given "the care and superintendence of the public buildings, and the care, custody and management of all the property of the city." The superintendent of public buildings is an officer subordinate to the city council.

8. Query, whether any officers of the city, other than the city clerk and city treasurer, can be elected by joint ballot to convention under section 17 of chapter 145 of the acts of 1856. Should not all officers of the city be elected by joint ballot, except the clerk and treasurer? And, if so, then the law is repugnant to section 17.

9. The law, which the city council is in the habit of enacting from time to time, is not always another law of a different kind, or a kind of amendment to the original law, but it is a new law, or a new section of the original law. The city council, in the case of the proposed hall, for purposes of mere amusement, is not the appointed head of a department, but its action, by enacting a law, or a section of a law, is appropriated by virtue of a plenary power, and is as valid as if it had been enacted by joint ballot to convention under section 17 of chapter 145. Should not all officers of the city be elected by joint ballot, except the clerk and treasurer?

10. The law, which the city council is in the habit of enacting from time to time, is not always another law of a different kind, or a kind of amendment to the original law, but it is a new law, or a new section of the original law. The city council, in the case of the proposed hall, for purposes of mere amusement, is not the appointed head of a department, but its action, by enacting a law, or a section of a law, is appropriated by virtue of a plenary power, and is as valid as if it had been

CHARLES COWLEY,
The Petitioners.

At the conclusion of the argument, the case was heard at 10 a.m. in reply.

CASE CONTINUED

When the argument had been heard, Judge Sheldon declined to render an injunction at this time, but put the case over to the October sitting so that it might be finished.

NIGHT EDITION VETOED BY MAYOR

Loan Order Found to be Improperly Drawn

Mayor Casey has discovered irregularities in the appropriation and loan order of $35,000 for the extension of the water system in the recently annexed portion of Tewksbury, and while he is heartily in favor of the extension he has been compelled to refuse to sign either paper owing to their incorrectness.

Shortly after the annexation of a portion of Tewksbury petitions began to pile in at the office of the water board asking for water for domestic and fire purposes. While the construction of water mains in that section of the city owing to ledge and water has cost a good deal of money and will cost a great deal more, all of the work will be paid for in time by the water taken.

Petition after petition was passed by the board and the work commenced, but after $15,000 had been expended it was decided that the water department could not go ahead much farther without asking for a loan. Therefore the board held a meeting and asked for the appropriation of $31,000 which was the sum

On Centralville Heights

At a Great Bargain

The undersigned, being about to move to his new residence in Belvidere, offers his present home at 119 Fremont street, for sale. The premises consist of a large two and one-half story house with a fine stable on a nicely graded and stone curbed double lot of land containing 11,000 square feet. The house is in first-class condition throughout. It has twelve good rooms besides an attic room, pantry and modern bath room. The plumbing is modern and first class in every particular. The steam heating plant consists of a fine steel boiler, set in brick with ten radiators, piped in the best possible manner. Cellar bottom cemented and sub-drained. Walks and driveway concreted and lot front curbed with granite.

The stable is one of the finest on the hill. The carriage house is concreted and drained into the street sewer. There are three stalls (one a box stall) fine harness room and a finished room for a hostler, together with all the facilities necessary for a high grade stable. The location is slightly, dry and healthy and the street cars are within one minute's walk of the house. There are several nice fruit and shade trees and an excellent lawn.

To build such a home today with the prevailing price of labor and material would cost nearly double the sum for which I am willing to sell. Further particulars will be cheerfully given to anyone desirous of buying such a residence.

AFTER TRAIN WRECKER A FRANK OFFICER

The State Police at Work on the Case

While the Boston & Maine Will Spare No Expense to Round Up Desperado—Third Attempt at Train Wrecking Within a Short Time

The state police are at work on the attempted train wrecking case in Billerica while the Boston & Maine will spare no expense to bring the perpetrators of the dastardly act to justice.

The railroad authorities are of the opinion that the mysterious train wrecker is some insane person with a mania for wrecking trains, residing between Boston and Lowell. This is not the first attempt of this kind of late, for while the order for $25,000 does not provide for paying the interest.

Both documents will be sent back to the water board and as soon as they are correctly drawn the mayor will affix his signature.

In the meantime Mayor Casey has notified the acting head of the water department to continue the men working on the mains and pipes in Woburnville and South Lowell.

WANTS HIGHER STANDARD.

Mayor Casey has filed with the city clerk a communication addressed to the city council recommending the maintenance of the department of scales of weights and measures on a higher standard of efficiency and also recommends that the city sealer be compensated with a salary of not less than $1,000 per year, the present salary being but $350.

The communication is as follows:

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 11, 1906.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen—I desire to notify the members of the city council that the department of scales of weights and measures should be maintained on a high standard of efficiency. This department is now considerably provided with protection to the public against incorrect weight and measure. The city sealer is so poorly compensated that the can give but little of his time to the duties of his office. Many scales, weights and measures have not been inspected for years. There is consequently every opportunity for imposition to be practised upon the public.

A recent investigation disclosed the following unsatisfactory conditions:

SCALES.

Many scales showed no evidence of having been sealed in recent years, and others not to have been sealed within twenty months.

WEIGHTS, LIQUID AND DRY MEASURES.

With a few exceptions none of these articles examined showed seals, or other evidence of inspection.

LINEAR MEASURES.

No inspection is made of the yard sticks and other linear measures used by dealers, etc.

MILK JARS.

Milk jars and bottles are not tested for capacity, although thousands of them are in daily use throughout the city.

With one exception ice scales were found on ice wagons, but in no instance had they been tested and sealed.

A more accurate system as to weighing and sale of coal should be inaugurated.

The department is not of sufficient size and importance at present to compel a strict enforcement of all laws relating to the duties of the sealer of weights and measures. The city sealer receives a salary of $350 per annum. The city of Worcester pays a salary of $1,000 and a deputy sealer a salary of $300.

Under the provisions of Section 34, Chapter 62, of the Revised Laws the sealer is obliged to collect a certain fee for inspection which is turned into the city treasury. The more inspections that are made, the greater is the revenue derived, and better protection is given to the public.

I would respectfully recommend that the city sealer be compensated with a salary of not less than $1,000, he to give all his time to the service of the city. The revenue of the department will more than offset the amount of the salary, and that this communication be referred to the committee on ordnance and legislation for the purpose of formulating an ordinance along the lines suggested.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES H. CASEY, Mayor.

STREET WORK.

Supt. Morse of the street department is busily along the street work at the present time and he has many big jobs on his hands. He intends to do something to Fletcher street, from Cross to Pawtucket street as soon as possible for the street is in a dangerous condition. The controversy between the mayor and the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. relative to the latter company paying a portion of the expense of repairing houses has delayed him in commencing the work.

Thomaston street will be put in good condition in a short time. New gutters have been laid, gutters have been straightened and the hill has been dug out and is ready for the heavy stone for the foundation. The traffic on this strip of street is as great if not greater than any strip of street of a similar size in the city. Teamsters with heavy loads have been in the habit of chipping the wheels of their wagons together or putting shoes on in order to "skid" to the bottom of the hill, preventing any accident, but Supt. Morse has decided to put a stop to this practice for it tears up the street, making deep ruts.

That portion of Newhall street to be macadamized has been dug out and the dirt taken out has been put in Carter street, which will be placed in good condition.

The macadamizing of High street with a top dressing of Sodex trap rock is also nearly completed. It will be finished by the first of the week.

The superintendent has now turned his attention to Andover street and within a short time that street will be placed in first class condition.

Nichols Thought Prisoner Was Drunk

AND ASKED HIM ABOUT IT

Amusing Incidents In Today's Police Court

After a bunch of drunks appeared before Judge Haderly in police court this morning and most of them were let down with time.

Officer Chas. Nichols, gray deputy, who is in charge of the blues when he is not in the care of Thomas Connely, charged with drunkenness, Connely came into the police station on the night of the 30th of the month on the verge of collapse from drink and Capt. New ordered Officer Nichols to lock him up. The next day he went to the train and was held there for 10 days before he could appear in court. This morning Connely had no recollection of being arrested and hence couldn't place guilty.

Officer Nichols took the stand and testified that Connely came into the police station and that he locked him up at the captain's request. "When we were walking across the guard room," said Officer Nichols, "he told me, 'I know you, I'm sick.' I told him, 'I told him I thought he was drunk, but he said he wasn't and he talked all right but his breath smelled of liquor."

"Was he drunk?" asked Deputy Welch.

"I thought he was but he told me he wasn't," responded the officer.

"What were the indications of drunkenness?" inquired Judge Haderly.

"Well, his breath smelled very strongly of liquor and he walked slow," said Officer Nichols. "Though he told me he couldn't walk fast because he was sick I thought he was drunk myself."

Judge Haderly looked at the deputy and the deputy looked on as though he had a hunting game and then the court said: "Have you any other witness against this man?"

Probation officer Blarney, who was in the police station at the time, took the witness stand for the first time since his appointment as probation officer and said that Connely had been on a spree and that when he came into the police station he was suffering bodily from the effects of the spree and the probation officer added that Connely is a hard worker and generally a sober, industrious citizen and the court placed him on probation.

John H. Donlevy withdrew his appeal and his sentence to the state farm was confirmed.

Mary Seymour also withdrew her appeal and will do four months in jail.

A well dressed 39-year-old girl won in for drunkenness and the court after trying her name round twice placed the case on file.

William A. Maher was charged with drunkenness only today but at the request of the government his case was put over until tomorrow when a charge of larceny may be brought against him.

The visitors will be met at the Northern station at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and will march through Appleton and Central streets to the Holliston club in Hurd street, where lunch will be served.

At the conclusion of the social session the line will be reformed and the knights will march through Central and Merrimack streets to city hall and after inspecting the building will board special electric cars for Cambridge later.

At these stops on the tour, there will be band concerts and a fine old Rhode Island clambake.

HE WAS MURDERED Fireman's Body Was Then Thrown Overboard

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Sept. 14.—What is believed to be the body of a murdered fireman from a coastwise steamer was washed ashore on the breakwater near the Point Judith life saving station today. Today Louis Parker, a survivor of the steamer, saw the body floating in the water. The man was about five feet, six inches in height, weighed 150 pounds, wore blue overalls with a black and white striped shirt. The man also had on a pair of lace shoes and to the bottom of one clung a big junk of yellow lead found mostly in the fire room of steamers. Coming as the body did from the direction of the sea, it is supposed that the man was probably murdered aboard ship and then thrown overboard.

The body was seen yesterday afternoon floating off the Point Judith BROCKTON, Sept. 14.—John F. Tobin for seven years general president of the Boot & Shoe Workers union in the United States and Canada has been defeated for re-election by Thomas B. Hickey, business agent of the Brockton Lathers' union, according to returns received in this city today. The balloting was held yesterday and while it will be several days before the complete results are known, returns at hand today indicate a landslide for Hickey. For vice president, the indications point towards the election of Charles P. Murray, of Lynn, a supporter of the so-called Hickey or radical wing of the union over Collis Lovell of St. Louis, one of the Tobin supporters.

The election of Hickey, it is thought, will be of great significance to the shoe industry throughout this country and Canada and the manufacturers are awaiting the result with keen interest. One of the planks in the Hickey platform is "we will win or we will strike." The previous policy of the union has been "we will arbitrate."

DISMORNING, Secretary Bonaparte said that he had received no intelligence whatever concerning the landing in Havana of United States blue-jackets except such was contained in the Associated Press cable despatches. The expected return of Commander Colwell of the Denver, had he said, probably been received in Washington and forwarded to his address at Oyster Bay. In his absence from Washington such advices would be received and acted upon by Rear Admiral Converse, acting secretary of the navy and later forwarded to him. Commander Colwell had, he said, received only such instructions as would ordinarily be given to an officer of the navy, amounting in whole some time was naturally left to the commander's discretion, he would be expected to take no serious action but reporting such contemplated step to the department. The landing of an American military landing arms in that country with which we were at war was a serious matter and whether it was discreet to do so or otherwise, would probably develop from Commander Colwell's report.

18 KILLED
INSURGENTS ATTACKED THE RUSSIAN GUARDS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—A despatch from the American representative, Mr. Sleeper, says it is reported that 300 insurgents attacked the Russian guards on the morning of the 13th at Zasera (Santa Clara province), and that the government lost eighteen men, while the loss of the insurgents is not known. The government forces are treated to Santa Barbara. Mr. Sleeper adds that a rumor is current of an uprising in Paraguay. The postal service between Santiago and Havana is interrupted. Mr. Sleeper's report is based on a telegram received from the American consul at Santiago on the afternoon of September 13.

U. S. POLICY

WILL NOT TAKE SIDES WITH EITHER PARTY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Cuba is the sole topic of conversation in part of official Washington which is dealing with the disturbed situation in the island republic. The policy of the government to show in the order to withdraw from Havana all force save such as may be recommended in the American legation and which remains an a legation guard. To have allowed a force of more than 100 blue-jackets to camp around the palace of the president of Cuba, it was believed, could not be construed otherwise than an taking sides in favor of the Cuban government.

Strict neutrality between the warring factions, but with every possible precaution to protect American life and property, is the policy of the United States. The navy, acting under orders from the president, is ready and prepared to furnish such force as may be necessary to carry out the policy. The landing of 120 sailors by Commander Colwell and the subsequent withdrawal of nearly the entire force on orders from Washington has caused considerable comment, but it is asserted that no reflection on the officer involved. Under his instructions, he was to put his force at the disposal of the state department authority in Cuba which was vested in the person of Charge Sleeper. His action in landing a force was at the request of the American chargé.

Rear Admiral Converse in the absence of Secretary Bonaparte, in referring all inquiries for information to the president of the state department, Mr. Ade in the state department, is in a similar position and consequently it is difficult to extract any official information here bearing on the present crisis. However, it was admitted that late last night a long cablegram in cipher was received from Commander Colwell of the Denver, dealing with the starting events of the day in Havana. The officials refused any information as to the details of the despatch.

"Yes," Mr. Bonaparte replied, "study and thoughtfully, it was certain." "And all credit?"

"Well?" and the secretary smiled.

"I can answer that question when I receive his report."

Secretary Bonaparte planned to return to Washington as soon after the typhoon conference as possible, but this morning was uncertain when that would be.

Acting Secretary of State Bacon said he had nothing to add to the news he gave out in Washington yesterday regarding the landing and withdrawal of the natives.

It is understood that Postmaster General Collyer, who is at Hampton Lodge, a short distance from Binghamton, will also participate in the conference today.

United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, member of the Senate committee on Cuban relations will also be a guest of President Roosevelt today and may take part in the conference.

"Oh, my God, forgive me for my sins, I am a murderer, I have broken up my home, beaten my wife and children, I have shot my mother-in-law and the officers of the law, and I have killed an innocent man. Unless I am forgiven I have nothing to live for, God, forgive me or strike me dead now."

When the man finished his prayer, and fell over against the platform, several delegates sprang forward, thinking him intoxicated or delirious, but the Rev. Mr. Howard soothed the man and asked him to confess his sins in all detail.

And between sobs and tears, Dean confessed that it was he who, on strong night last March murdered the man whose body was found upon the Fresh Kills trestle. The body had never been identified. Dean had not even been suspected in connection with the crime, and the murder had long since gone down among the mysteries unfathomable.

CRY'S OUT GUILT

Slayer Has Made a Confession

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Into the mind of the Richmond County Prohibition convention, at Marlboro's Harbor last night, there dashed an excited man whose face was contorted and who waved his hands and screamed.

The 350 members of the convention were listening with bated breath to the opening prayer by the Rev. James H. Howard, pastor of the Summerfield Methodist church, but all leaped to their feet as the man threw himself at the feet of the praying minister, crying out:

"Oh, my God, forgive me for my sins, I am a murderer, I have broken up my home, beaten my wife and children, I have shot my mother-in-law and the officers of the law, and I have killed an innocent man. Unless I am forgiven I have nothing to live for, God, forgive me or strike me dead now."

When the man finished his prayer, and fell over against the platform, several delegates sprang forward, thinking him intoxicated or delirious, but the Rev. Mr. Howard soothed the man and asked him to confess his sins in all detail.

And between sobs and tears, Dean confessed that it was he who, on strong night last March murdered the man whose body was found upon the Fresh Kills trestle. The body had never been identified. Dean had not even been suspected in connection with the crime, and the murder had long since gone down among the mysteries unfathomable.

THE FAYS

THEIR TRICKS WERE EXPOSED IN COURT

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—In the cold white unsympathetic light of Justice Newburger's court room yesterday, the mystery and gloom which surrounded the personalities and performances of the "Mysterious Fays," high priest and high priestess of "Hedonism," disappeared like frost before a strong, ambitious sun.

The Fays, who have had success in showing across the way, the while a policeman was held in command, Mr. Howard soothed the man and asked him to confess his sins in all detail.

And between sobs and tears, Dean confessed that it was he who, was accused, had started a show called "Clownists," advertising it as one of the Fay shows.

Confused for the defendants declared it was mostly the purpose of his clients to expose the Fays' tricks.

FIVE DROWNED

Children Were in a Boat That Upset

WHITEHEAD, N. S., Sept. 14.—A terrible drowning accident occurred at Port Felix, N. S., yesterday by which five young people lost their lives. The dead are: John Fougere, aged 11; Maggie Fougere, aged 9; Maggie King, aged 11; Clara King, aged 11; Martin King, aged 12; Saved, Minnie Fougere, aged 15.

ANOTHER FIGHT

Nelson Posts $10,000 to Meet Gans

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Battling Nelson returned yesterday, showing few marks of his encounter with Joe Gans. He immediately posted a certified check for $10,000 for another match with Gans, this amount to go as a side bet. In the event of no club making a satisfactory offer, Nelson agrees to fight Gans in private for $10,000 a side.

The Battler says he did not intentionally foul Gans, but that Gans purposely threw himself in the way of a fair blow and then dropped to the floor. "Old Sler was there to call a foul," says Nelson.

"Was I jobbed? Well, just as certain as that I am standing here."

Nolan goes further and says the deal was framed up in San Francisco by the sports who have never forgiven Nolan for whipping Britt and taking away a lot of their money.

"This shows that the miners still believe in me and my fighting ability," said he. "Given a fair deal, when the ring is not dark and the referee unable to see plainly, I will show Gans who is the better man."

FOR PURSE OF $20,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Philadelphia's Jack O'Brien did not sail for Australia yesterday afternoon, having accepted an offer from the Arcadia Club at Los Angeles to fight Tommy Burns for a purse of $20,000. O'Brien had abandoned hope of getting Berger plied down to a match, and had decided to sail, when the Arcadia offer changed his plans. No date has been set for the fight.

DECISION FOR SIDNEY.

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—In a whirlwind fight at the Arcadia last night, Fred Pantz was given the decision over Kid Pantz. Sidney did practically all the leading, but it was not until the ninth round that he had any advantage. In that round Pantz went down twice, but rallied brilliantly.

The tenth round was fast fighting from start to finish. Pantz was again gorgy, but Sidney lacked the power to put him out of commission.

The remaining five rounds were a bit slower, Sidney missing several apparently good opportunities to finish his man.

Referee Stuart's decision in favor of Sidney was warmly applauded. The attendance was about 600.

STRUCK BY AUTO

YOUNG MAN NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE.

WHITINSVILLE, Mass., Sept. 14.—An automobile in charge of J. M. Thornton of Pawtucket, R. I., struck Dolphus Lambert, Jr., the 16-year-old son of Dolphus Lambert at Rockdale-Northbridge, last night, and injured him so seriously that he may die. Young Lambert was playing on the highway at the time. His skull is fractured and he is otherwise hurt.

WAS BURNED

THE MOTOR BOAT MERCEDES TOOK FIRE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—An explosion on the motor boat Mercedes, one of the entrants in the race of the motor boat club of America, which took place on the Hudson river, threw its three occupants, H. L. Bowden, the owner of Boston, Capt. Jas. Barr and Charles Baske, the engineer, into the river. They were rescued with serious injury. The boat took fire and burned to the water's edge.

Bill Fitzmaurice has got back to his home in Marlboro after a fine season with Lowell. The veteran, for this was his twelfth year, has batted and fielded as well as ever in his life, and stood well up in both departments with the league's leaders. Joshua Quincy will not stand for Moran's attempt to capture the democratic nomination and in that he shows his consistency. It is only a move to make the democratic party ridiculous.

It will be to the lasting disgrace of the democracy of this state if it cannot find a candidate for governor strong enough to avert the surrender to the nominee of the prohibition party. Imagine a three per cent. pact tying up in a knot one of the two great parties of the state!

Republican extravagance is perhaps best shown by the fact that while our population increases less than 2 per cent. a year, yet the appropriations increased for the present fiscal year 7.6 per cent. more than they were for the year previous. Every year shows a much greater increase than the per cent. of increase of the population.

MAKE IT A BAND CONCERT, GENTLEMEN.

There is very keen regret among democrats and we dare say republicans also, over the decision to call off the joint debate between Ames and Dunbar. It was looked forward to by democrats with anticipations of great enjoyment as it promised to be a unique affair. A great many people are disappointed as the attendance was expected to reach from 20,000 to 40,000. That being the case it would seem that the candidates could not do better than send a band up to the South common tonight to allay the disappointment of those who will go there to hear the debate, for there will be hundreds from other parts of the district who have not heard that the event is declared off through the intervention of Secretary Gowen.

NEW OPPORTUNITIES FOR CORRUPTION.

Before Mr. Bryan can successfully launch his plan of government ownership of railroads, he will have to establish official honesty in every government department. At present he seems to think that there is but one dishonest man in the country apart from the trust magnates and the plutocrats but if he were elected president he would soon have a rude awakening to the fact that there is more political dishonesty in this country to a square inch than there is in any other country to a square yard. Government ownership of railroads under present conditions would mean little more than opening up new opportunities for robbing the government and frustrating the will of the people.

THE WORST LIBERTINES.

That Pittsburg pastor who deserted his wife and family to elope with a young girl, a member of his church, must be a disciple of the free love cult when he makes the flimsy declaration: "Miss Mylum is my wife; in the sight of God I swear it."

There is no libertine so unmitigatingly criminal as the one who uses his position as leader of a religious organization to debase and scandalize its members. This man seems to be as dead to his moral obligations and as much of a hypocrite as the man Foster who when charged with bigamy and neglect of his first wife and family for fourteen years claimed that an injury to his head caused him to forget all about them and to forget that he was ever married before. Such men should be punished to the extreme limit of the law for their perfidy.

THE FLOATING CASTLES.

Tremendous quantities of coal will be required to run the turbine liner Lusitania's engines. The ship's indicated horse power is 65,000, which will mean a consumption of not less than 35 tons of steam each hour and a corresponding consumption of 50 tons of coal in the same time. This would work out a total of 1200 tons of coal a day.—Exchange.

Assuming that the vessel is seven days at sea the smallest cargo of coal with which she can venture out would be about 500 tons. And the coal is but a small part of a big steamer's cargo, but what an idea it gives of the vast power and size of such vessels. Yet they are sometimes belted about by the waves like mere cat-boats!

MORAN'S CANDIDACY ASSAILED.

The Worcester Post is talking right out in open meeting, so to speak, on the John B. Moran fiasco. Here is a sample of the Post's hot shot on Moran's candidacy for the democratic nomination:

"The candidacy of John B. Moran for the democratic nomination for governor is the most ludicrous of the many ludicrous things that have taken place in democratic politics in a generation."

"It used to be a favorite saying with the late John E. Russell in his campaign speeches in Worcester that every political tramp assumed the right to walk into the democratic drawing room, sit at the head of the table and wipe his muddy shoes upon the democratic parlor carpet without saying as much as 'By your leave, gentlemen to the men who had stood loyal to the party through storm and sunshine.'

"Mr. Moran's candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor must be based upon some such assumption."

"We have never known Mr. Moran to be anything other than a free lancer in politics. While we have not the honor of a personal acquaintance with him our reading of the newspaper reports of his political career has led us to believe that he has in his make-up some of the conspicuous characteristics of a political disturber. He has unscrupulously attacked democratic candidates when he took a notion. Party loyalty has had for him no restraint. He was a democrat when it suited his purposes and something else when the whim seized him."

"Last year Mr. Moran ran against the democratic nominee for district attorney of Suffolk county and won at the polls to the astonishment of most of his supporters."

"With the prestige of independent victory and the badge of democratic disloyalty upon his brow, Mr. Moran this year received the prohibition nomination for governor. He accepted it and then served notice immediately upon the democrats that they, too, would have to nominate him, or like Simeon of old, he would 'pull down the pillars of their idol hall.' He has told the public in unmistakable language that whether the democratic party nominates him or not, he will be the candidate of the prohibition party at the polls."

"The effort of the prohibition candidate for governor to secure the democratic nomination also is the queerest combination that has ever been proposed in Massachusetts politics."

"Of course it is easy to see what will come of Moran's candidacy in case he should be nominated when a democratic paper treats it in this manner. To say more would be simply to make republican assurance doubly sure."

SEEN AND HEARD

Princess Clementine, mother of the Prince of Bulgaria, said one day to her taller brother, the Duke of Johnville: "Letting me on your next trip to the south wear the complete costume of a king's wife." "I will gladly," the duke answered. He returned from the south a year later and handed to his sister a string of glass beads. "These are very pretty," said the princess, "but you promised me a complete costume." said the duke. "I have never seen them wear any other."

A gentleman returning from a holiday in India was bringing home, among other souvenirs, a pair of bangle bracelets.

The care of them was given to the gentleman's servant, Bill. The voyage did not agree with these birds, and in spite of Bill's care they pined away and died.

Bill told a friend of his trouble, and he advised him to break the news to his master.

Bill found his master, and said "Sir, you know them things called bangle bracelets? Well, they didn't get nothing more to last at."

As I was on my holiday I saw this notice in an hotel, opened by a foreigner who had just "mastered" the English language:

"Gentlemen who come in this hotel will say anything about their meals will be charged for, and if they should say anything beforehand that they are going out to breakfast or dinner, and if they say that they have not anything to eat that they will be charged, and if not so, they will be charged, or unless they bring it to the notice of the manager, and should they want not to say anything, they must order the manager for, and not anyone else, and unless they not bring it to the notice of the manager they will be charged for the best things not, according to hotel rate, and no fees will be allowed afterwards about it, and nothing will be allowed to deduct anything out of it."

An Englishman who was spending a holiday in Aberdeen, the "granite City," tells the following story:

"I had heard," he said, "of the canny folk of Aberdeen, and my experience, though it was proved that rumour had rightly estimated the character of the people. The streets are granite, the houses are granite, and the inhabitants are granite; and when they have a granite baby they give it a ball of granite for fear it should break any other toy."

"I had a granite landlady, and one day when I was going fishing her son volunteered to accompany me. I provided the lunch, the rods, and the lines; he provided the worms, dug them up in a neighbor's garden with a borrowed spade. I caught six trout; he ate the lunch and broke my best rod. When we got home I made a present of fourteen of the fish to my granite landlady, and asked her to cook the other two for my tea. She did, and charged me threepence for the dripping in which they were fried."

BEFORE AND AFTER.

—Jessie Markey.

It is wonderful how slight a thing will give a drowning man's life. An earl's overboard will buoy him up—a thing scarcely thicker than a knitting needle will draw him safely to the shore. Franklin, when a boy, used to float on the surface of the water, sustained by the pull of his fishing kite, and men have ridden out storms on the great sea on hoop-ends and insignificant mallets of mighty ships that had broken up under their feet. It is the same in the troubled waters of life's ocean. A very little help has often rescued a struggling brother who must otherwise have gone down, to the no more, and thousands do go down, while those who might safely lead them a helping hand look on helplessly. To lend a helping hand to any man who throws up his hands and manifests no disposition to save himself from sinking is useless; but the "man overboard" on the voyage of life who butts the billows of fate valiantly has a righteous claim to the sympathy and support of his more fortunate brethren.

An old man recently went to London for his holidays. He had been to several of the noted places, so the fourth day he decided to go to Hyde Park. He had walked round the park, and, feeling rather tired and sleepy, he eventually sat down on a chair in the shade of the trees.

He had not been there long, when a man came up to him and asked him for a penny for the use of the chair. He paid him the penny, and then went to sleep on the chair. His hat dropped off on to his knee, and people who were passing by, thinking him to be a blind man, put coppers into his hat, and eventually when he awoke he had 14s 1d in coppers in his hat, so he made his excuse.

Abraham Lincoln said: "Die when I may, I want it said of me by those who know me best that I always plucked a thistle and planted a flower where I thought a dower would grow."

TWO GOOD-NIGHTS.

THE CITY CHILD'S GOOD-NIGHT.

Good-night, dear, noisy, happy street! The clanging bells and hurried feet.

When I am safely tucked in bed, And all the day-time thoughts are fled;

Are just like music to my ears,

And drive away the night-time fears.

Good-night, dear street. Your lights so bright,

Shine in my window all the night,

And company they are to me.

But oh, how lonely it must be

Beyond the city and the park

When everything is still and dark.

THE COUNTRY CHILD'S GOOD-NIGHT.

Good-night, dear hills! So still you lie

Against the bosom of the sky.

I know you must be fast asleep,

And all night long the stars will keep

Their tender watches over you,

You must soon be sleeping, too.

Good-night, dear hills for now I go

To slumber, trustfully and slow;

But bedtime must be cheerless, gray,

To those who can't look out and say,

My heart with pitying it ails

One good-night to the friendly hills.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

MICKEY'S MISTAKE

Liane Helm: Governor Mickey is a ready speaker, and an ardent lover of Roosevelt, but the crowd at Lincoln, Neb., seemed to greet Bryan did not care to hear the president mentioned in the presence of their idol and the words of the governor were coldly received, and who was advised "to eat it out." The general governor of Nebraska should have refused to be a part of the Bryan show or else have given it his cordial countenance. The first would have been the better course.

G. P. WILLIAMS ON BRYAN.

Johnstown Democrat: George Fred Williams of Boston, the acknowledged Bryan leader in Massachusetts, in a private letter to the editor of The Democrat, expresses his unqualified approval of Mr. Bryan's stand to favor a public ownership of the iron highways. "I know you will join me," he says, "in the satisfaction I feel at Mr. Bryan's bold declaration on the public ownership question. I believe this is digging at the roots of the trust problem and that we may look forward to a campaign which will have in it no elements of compromise or hypocrisy. Rate regulation has been well tried for a quarter of a century in the states and it has merely resulted in loading up the state governments with railroad influence until hardly a single state can be found which is not under the dominion of the railroads and the lesser line in the public utility household. I think the best purge we could give our polity in the public ownership program and this is a question which is good enough for any man to devote himself to for the rest of his life."

IN SCHOOLS

WOMEN FEAR THAT CHILDREN ARE BEING KILLED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Miss Josephine Lawler has been bearing the white woman's burden as principal of Public School No. 17 and its annex, No. 18, in Corona Heights, near Flushing, for the last three years. She is almost the whole of American Civilization in that outpost of Manhattan's great East Side, not only bringing up her thousand odd youngsters to keep their faces clean and never tell a lie, but also through her monthly mothers' meetings seeing that as few babies as possible die every year from cold and their mothers' ignorance.

The Italian women kiss her hand whenever she can't stop them and call her "the little mother," and humbly obey whatever she commands. The Jewish children and their mothers are still distrustful because they have not been there long enough to get acquainted.

A small edition of the panic which sent 50,000 school children screaming on to the streets in Manhattan last June broke out in the two public schools in Corona Heights yesterday, and 5000 mothers and fathers of all nationalities hung round the schools all morning to make sure that, as Miss Lawler said, their children were not having their throats cut by the American doctor.

The Italians were first on the scene and completely devoted to her, and it was only during the past summer that the Russian Jews came in. Whole flocks of tenement sprang up overnight next the Italian hamlet in Corona Heights and hundreds of Russian Jewish families that knew not Miss Lawler moved in all through the month of August.

On Monday the Jewish mothers who had acquaintances among the Italian mothers began to tell them of the awful time back in New York in June, when the Christian doctors came to the schools to cut all the Jewish children's throats and how they had saved them only by going to the schools in crowds and threatening to tear them down if the children's lives weren't spared. This started suspicion fermenting in the little minds.

The nurse and the shining knives had been seen, and it must be there that their children were being murdered.

Miss Lawler argued long with the women, telling them that there was no idea of hurting the children and that it was all foolishness. But nothing availed. It took a couple of men sent by Miss Justice, a contractor, to protect her until the police came over from the Elmhurst police station.

They made the women leave. When the children came home at noon, the mothers lost their fears and all was quiet again.

to cut the children's throats. To be sure she was there, without any knife, to teach the children cooking.

A few minutes a bareheaded, anxious-eyed crop of Italian and Jewish mothers was hurrying toward the schools. They stopped at the small entrance where about a hundred of the children were and round in the door. Miss Josephine Lawler, who was in charge under Miss Lawler, after telephoning her chief, let the mothers in, showing them that there were no nurses or ladies and that there were their children safe and sound.

Their mothers picked them up and kissed them gently and then hurried on after the larger maternal squadron. All of those hearts and fears were laid to rest.

INJUNCTION CASE

Against Legality of Public Hall Commission

Charles Cowley and City Solicitor Hill Argued Case—Matter Put Over Till October Session of Court

At the supreme judicial court in Boston today the petition of A. C. Wheelock et al. for an injunction restraining the recently elected Huntington Hall commissioners from proceeding with the building of a public hall and restraining the city treasurer from paying out any money for that purpose was heard before Judge Sheldon.

Charles Cowley appeared for the petitioners and City Solicitor Hill for the respondents.

Mr. Cowley in opening the case read the petition, which has been published previously in The Sun. He then presented the following brief from which he argued at length.

MR. COWLEY'S BRIEF.

SUPERIOR JUDICIAL COURT, Middlesex ss. 1906. Plaintiff et al. vs. City of Lowell et al. No. 1279.

Brief for the Petitioners.

This petition is based on section 100 of chapter 25 of the Revised Laws. Section 4 of chapter 53 of the Acts of 1875 provides that the city council of Lowell "may lay and assess taxes for purposes for which towns are by law required or authorized to assess or grant money, and also for all purposes necessary for carrying into effect the powers conferred by" said chapter, commonly called the city charter. And the purposes for which towns may raise money are defined in section 16 of chapter 25 of the Revised Laws.

The city council has no implied power. As Daniel Webster said when discussing the powers granted by the city charter of 1836, "Nothing passes by implication." This is the doctrine of the following and many other cases.

Bang vs. Snow, 1 Mass. 181. Dillingham vs. Snow, 5 Mass. 547. Parsons vs. Goshen, 11 Pick. 394. Stetson vs. Keene, 13 Mass. 272. Minot vs. West Roxbury, 112 Mass. 1. Agawam vs. Hampden, 130 Mass. 628.

2. The ordinance, under which the commissioners were chosen, is repugnant to section 7 of chapter 25 of the Revised Laws; because it limits the members of the joint convention in their choice of four out of the four commissioners, to the nominees of the two nominators, by providing that, "in case of (their) failure to elect any one or more of the persons so nominated, new names shall be submitted by said committee," viz., the two nominators; whereas the statute gives to each member of the joint convention the right to vote for any citizen of Lowell, irrespective of any nomination, and without distinction of race, color or creed. Under the statute, the mode of election of a city officer, by the two branches of the city council in joint convention, is analogous to the mode of election of a United States senator by the two branches of the legislature in joint convention, and can no more be justified by a city ordinance than can the mode of election of such senator, as regulated by convention association v. Topeka, 29 Wash. 655.

In 16 Mass. 603, all the justices of this court said that "none of the purposes for which cities and towns have been authorized to raise money, has included anything in the nature of what is called trade or commercial business."

Prior to the statute of 1801, chapter 330, no city or town in this state could engage in the manufacture or sale of gas or electric light.

7. "It would be a perversion of the function of government for the state or city to enter as a competitor into the field of industrial enterprise."

Opinions of the Justices 18 Mass. 607. A city has no power and the legislature cannot give it power— to appropriate money for the erection of a memorial hall, a portion of which is to be for the use of a post of the G. A. R.

Kingsman v. Brockton, 152 Mass. 96. 8. The fact that the former hall was used for purposes of mere amusement at the expense of the taxpayers, furnishes no justification for the attempt now made to build another hall for such purposes.

"An unlawful expenditure of the city cannot be rendered valid by usage." Head v. Lyons; 1 Allen 36.

9. The ordinance assumes, but the petitioners deny, that the duty of building the proposed hall would devolve on the superintendent of public buildings, but for some act of the city council, making other provision therefor, under section 6 of chapter 45 of the acts of 1875. But, of course, if the purposes of the proposed hall are not such as the law authorizes, it could be no part of the duty of that officer to build it; not even if the power to build and maintain hall for purposes of mere amusement were among the granted powers, the erection of such a structure would be beyond the scope of the superintendent's duties.

By section 29 of chapter 133 of the acts of 1875, the city council is given "the care and superintendence of the public buildings, and the care, custody and management of all the property of the city." The superintendent of public buildings is an officer subordinate to the city council.

Query, whether any officers of the city, other than the city clerk and city trea-urer, can be elected by joint ballot in convention under section 17 of chapter 133 of the acts of 1875. Should not all officers of the city be elected by a majority vote, except the clerk and treasurer? And, if so, should not all now be elected by joint ballot?

10. The laws, which the city council is in a position to transfer from the head of a committee or board or commission to a city council, are only those which are not in conflict with the appointed head of a department or this act of the legislature, or with the purpose of a particular law for purposes of mere amusement.

The forty-second rule of the common council provides that "all city officers shall be elected in accordance with section 1, chapter 2 of the Revised Laws."

The forty-ninth rule of the common council and the twenty-fourth joint rule of the city council make Cushing's Manual the authority on questions of parliamentary law in use.

The 10th mentioned in paragraph 7 of the petition was appropriated to validation of parliamentary law, and means so expended by said manual.

district courts of Dedham. There is something like 16 of these cases, among them being George L. Fletcher, of Boston, Harry S. G. Kemp of Cambridge and John H. Hinch.

Not only this, but, chief of Police Kilpatrick of Woburn, stated to Mr. Thibault, the attorney in the case, that the defendant had authorized the police to use their publications of the automobiles.

The evidence showed that Hunnewell went at the rate of 22½ miles an hour for one eighth of a mile, then on trial, going in and out, passed only one car and that there were perhaps a dozen people standing in the square at Woburn, Mass., which is the east of the course.

This is the first case that has been tried in the superior court under the new law, and its far-reaching effect cannot be overestimated. The superior court on the 14th. There have been one or two other cases tried where points of law were involved.
